

Public Speaking for Activists

A supportive training for student social justice activists & allies

Saturday, February 18

12-1pm: Lunch and Meet & Greet

1-4pm: Workshop

Where: U of MN East Bank, Room TBA

Cost: FREE for U of M Students!

For non-students, pay-what-you-can, $5-20

(RSVP info below – Register early as space is limited.)

Public speaking can be an empowering and fun opportunity, and is especially important when you want to present radical or progressive ideas! This workshop incorporates games and on-your-feet activities in order to give participants an interactive learning experience and the opportunity to "do" public speaking. The workshop is designed for individuals who wish to express radical ideas in spaces where this can often be scary or difficult.

RSVP is Requested
and helps us plan for the training and lunch.

To register for the training or to ask questions, please contact: umndisorientation@gmail.com or call Jaime at 612-655-1080

Or register directly online here:
<http://bit.ly/speakingforactivists>

The trainer for this workshop will be Autumn Brown. Autumn is a founding member of the Rock Dove Collective, a radical community health exchange, and a member of the Board of Directors of the Common Fire Foundation. She trains activists in Consensus Process, Facilitation, Resisting Racism, organizational and strategic development, and many other skills, having taught and presented for colleges and social justice groups nationally and internationally. Autumn lives in St. Cloud, MN with her partner and two children.

Organized by Minnesota Autonomous Radical Space
(MARS) – www.marscollective.org